

The Authentication model makes use primarily of the Account class. All validation information is obtained from here and is compared to the users input.